

it's what good neighbors do.

East Iberville-INC (Industry Neighbor Companies)

NEWS

Career programs for students is topic of parent meet

Students interested in getting training for careers in everything from process technology to health occupations, or even college scholarships, can get plenty of help right at East Iberville High School. That was the message of officials and program leaders to parents attending the Parents Night program held November 18.

The event was coordinated by East Iberville-INC and the school system. Parents of all 9th through 12th graders were invited. Representatives of Career Compass, the parish's workforce development and dual enrollment program, the Job Corps, the PTEC program, and the Iberville Math, Science & Arts Academy all presented overviews on how they can help East Iberville High students plan and train for a career while in high school.

East Iberville-INC has also funded career counseling for all students in 9th through 11th grades at East Iberville High. The school system is funding the counseling for the seniors.

Parents who were unable to attend the Parents Night can get information from the school guidance counselor.

A view of the crowd attending Parents Night.

HELP TURNS OUT IN FORCE FOR MEETING... Representatives of a variety of programs and school officials participated in the Parents Night event. Shown standing from left are, Kacy Edwards, Career Compass; Elvis Cavalier, Iberville Math, Science & Arts Academy Director; Melvin Lodge, School Board President; Meshall Hill, Principal Math, Science & Arts Academy East; Warren Smith, East Iberville High Asst. Principal; Lori Gary, Ineos; Trudy Mayers, Williams Olefins; Gavin York, Syngenta; Janet Marionneau, Iberville School Supervisor; Col. Herb Fritz, Job Corps; Maria DeLouise, East Iberville School Principal; Gwen Atkins, Iberville School Workforce Development Director; and Melvin Hasten, Ineos. Seated from left to right: Julie Scott, Career Compass; Dr. Ed Cancienne, Superintendent; Sharon Turner, Syngenta; Tracy Martin, East Iberville High School teacher; and Kit Janis, TOTAL.

Member companies of East Iberville-INC:

Ineos Fluor, Olin, PCS Nitrogen, Syngenta, Taminco, TOTAL, and Williams Olefins, LLC.

The East Iberville-INC Mission:

To develop, coordinate and enhance good neighbor relationships to continuously improve our community.